Hello everyone,

Fall is just around the corner, and we hope that it will bring with it a turn in events on many fronts that we've been facing this year. This week I need to write to let you know that our regular weekly testing revealed another case of COVID-19 among our employees. The person concerned is currently in the required isolation at home with no symptoms.

We will continue our weekly testing of staff and Residents in an effort to root out positive cases quickly. We also continue to do staff education to remind our employees about risk factors and preventive measures they can take against the virus.

Good news around the house is that the beauty shop has reopened, much to the delight of our Residents and beauticians! Of course, this opening is happening under strict conditions including wearing of masks, social distancing and limited patronage. We are happy to be able to (safely) give our Residents this much needed boost.

Wishing you a blessed entry into the Fall season, be assured of our continued prayers for you and our gratitude for your support.

God bless,

Sr. Julie, lsp
